MARANAO, OF THE MALAYO-POLYNESIAN LANGUAGE GROUP, IS ONE OF THE EIGHT MAJOR LANGUAGES IN THE PHILIPPINES AND IS SPOKEN BY 400,000 MUSLIMS ON THE ISLAND OF MINDANAO. THIS DICTIONARY, BASED PRIMARILY ON THE SPOKEN FORM OF THE LANGUAGE, CONTAINS 18,000 MARANAO ENTRIES IN PART I AND THEIR ALPHABETIZED ENGLISH GLOSSES CROSS-REFERENCED IN PART II. THE INTRODUCTION INCLUDES A SKETCH OF MARANAO GRAMMAR TO AID THE READER IN IDENTIFYING BASE FORMS (USED FOR THE ENTRIES) AND A RATHER EXTENSIVE BIBLIOGRAPHY. A SPECIAL FEATURE IS THE ENTRY OF SOME 700 POPULAR MARANAO PLANT NAMES AND THEIR SCIENTIFIC EQUIVALENTS. THIS DICTIONARY WAS PRODUCED ON THE IBM 7040 AND 1401 AND HAS BEEN REPRODUCED FROM THE COMPUTER PRINT-OUT. IT IS AVAILABLE FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII PRESS, HONOLULU, FOR $15.00. (AM)

PREFACE

The publication reported herein was performed pursuant to a contract with the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Office of Education. This support is gratefully acknowledged. The Statistical and Computer Center of the University of Hawaii partly subsidized production of the original drafts of the dictionary on the IBM 7040 and 1401 computers. Parts I and II of the dictionary have been stored on tapes by the Computer Center for possible future programming.

The staff working with the principal investigator has included Mr. Batua A. Macaraya, Associate Researcher; Mrs. Engracia Macaraya and Rev. Victorio M. Dulag, Assistant Researchers; and Mrs. Lyndora Smith and Mrs. Teresa Cheng, Assistants in Research. Mr. Macaraya and the Reverend Dulag have been the principal sources for the Maranao.

All written sources available have been consulted and are listed in the Bibliography. The primary source, however, has been the spoken form of the language. The dictionary is therefore a first step toward a comprehensive work, and does not claim exhaustiveness. The more we work on the material, in fact, the more we find there is to be done. We are sure that some important entries have been omitted due to human error. But a halt must be called somewhere. This has been done because of time limitations rather than because an end has been reached.

We hope that the material collected will prove useful and that in the years to come it will form the basis for further studies.

INTRODUCTION

1. General

Part I of this work contains some 18,000 Maranao entries glossed generally by two to four English words or phrases. These Maranao entries are either base words or their derivatives. The selection of derivatives has been difficult since word formation is very productive in Maranao. Basically, though not always, a derivative has been selected if its meaning cannot be predicted from the base form. An attempt has been made to avoid entries which are base words amplified by inflection.

Over 3,000 Maranao words have been illustrated by Maranao sentences freely translated into English. The sentences are intended primarily to give the reader examples of Maranao syntax rather than a careful selection of semantic values. Words chosen for illustration are from multiple entries of Maranao words glossed by single English words or phrases as noted in Part II of the dictionary. Time has not permitted us to illustrate all such multiple entries, but enough have been given to afford the reader a sampling of Maranao sentence types as well as to distinguish some meanings otherwise obscure.

Over 700 popular Maranao plant names have been identified with their scientific equivalents. Lt. Col. Demetrio Mendoza, Chief Botanist of the National Museum of the Philippines, is responsible for the identifications, which he made for the most part on a field trip with the principal investigator in the summer of 1964. Dr. George Gillett of the University of Hawaii checked the scientific entries for accuracy. The efforts of these men are appreciated. We had hoped to do a similar study of the names of animal life of Lanao del Sur, but have been unable to do more than make a few identifications, using certain manuscripts available to us.

Because the Maranao entries are base forms without inflection, the user will not find in the dictionary every form he encounters in the language. He must locate the base, much as one does in classical languages. For example, pepengolog comes from olog 'fall'; kepakitabasan comes from tabas 'cut'; pepenapoqon comes from dapoq 'alight'. We have included a sketch of the grammar of Maranao, to aid the user in identifying base forms.

Key words have been cited as glosses for the Maranao. The glosses are separated by commas and appear in alphabetical order in Part II. When a phrase is used to gloss the Maranao, the key word is first in order. If an expansion is desirable, a dash (--) follows the key word: e.g., LAND--NEWLY CLEARED, or LADY--A ROMANTIC TERM. A dash may also indicate that the order is inverted: e.g., WINE--PALM for palm wine, or PRESSURE--APPLY AS WITH VISE. Finally, in some instances, the dash replaces an expected comma: e.g., BREAK APART--ESPECIALLY WARP AND WOOF OF CLOTH.

Part II of the dictionary is a cross reference to Part I. The reader should always refer to Part I for other glosses. Part II would not have been possible at this time were it not for the computer services at the University of Hawaii.

The format of A Maranao Dictionary has been modified to make possible the use of a computer print-out as the basis for photo-offset plates. We have found this to be the most economical means of publishing the results of the research. When the proper computer system becomes available to us, we will be able to use both upper and lower case letters. In order to make the materials available quickly, we have chosen to proceed with upper case letters alone.

Doing so we sacrifice the distinction between common and proper nouns and also lose the usual format for the scientific names of plants. We have also used slashes in place of parentheses, which were not available on our computer.

In this research we have worked from Maranao to English, and not from English to Maranao. More extended definitions of the Maranao must be given to augment the usefulness of the dictionary. The authors consider the work, in its current form, to be more a glossary than a dictionary--an initial step to future Maranao dictionaries. The current computer programs make it possible to edit the material, add to it, and correct it. We hope this will encourage continual expansion of this dictionary.

2. Phonological Survey

The following symbols have been used for the Maranao alphabet: a, b, d, e, g, h, i, k, q, l, m, n, ng, o, p, r, s, t. Most of the consonants are pronounced with their usual phonetic value. The q indicates the glottal stop, ng the velar nasal, as in sing, and r a flap, as in the t in later. The vowel sounds, on the other hand, are not to be equated with English pronunciations. The letter a is usually pronounced as the a of father (tabas 'cut'), though it may sometimes be heard by the American as the a of sofa. The letter i is usually pronounced as the i of machine (lima 'five'), though in some positions it varies almost to the e of met (lamisagan 'table'). The o varies among the ui of suit, the oo of soot, and the oa of boat (dato 'chief', solotan 'sultan'). The latter is heard most often, but the variation to the American ear is striking. The e in Maranao is the Philippine pepet vowel for which the American has no equivalent. It is technically a central mid to high vocoid and is pronounced with the tongue in a higher position with some tension. It resembles the u in the common rapid pronunciation of just (j<sup>u</sup>st).

The high vowels i and o occur as non-syllabic sounds, equal to the y and w of American English when these vowels occur between other vowels or non-adjacent to a consonant (aia 'this'). A general statement of a more technical nature may be found elsewhere.<sup>1</sup>

Stress on and length of vowels may be dependent upon each other. These prosodic features need further study before a final description can be given. Since contrast of such accent enters only into inflected items, it has not been necessary to mark it in the dictionary. The word tebas 'end of harvest' may be inflected by the addition of e, indicating immediate future. The resulting meaning 'harvest will end immediately' may be written teebas, where the first vowel is lengthened.

3. Parts of Speech

Dictionary listings of words contain only three parts of speech: particles, which are short words that never occur with any affixes; pronouns, which are a closed list of forms to indicate person, number, and grammatical relations; and the full stems, which occur with or without affixes. This last group of words forms the bulk of the dictionary. When used in sentences, full stems may be divided into nouns and verbs. The same word base often may function as a noun in one context and a verb in another. We have not indicated this usage here. However, word classification in Philippine languages is an area of research to be encouraged.

3.1 Pronouns

Pronouns may replace phrases introduced by certain case-like particles (see Section 7.12). There are four sets, as follows.

Set I	Set II	Set III	Set IV
ako	aken	raken	saken	'I'
ka	ngka~ka	reka	seka	'thou'
sekanian	nian~ian	rekanian	sekanian	'he, she, it'
kami	mi~ami	rekami	sekami	'we-not-you'
tano	tano	rektano	sektano	'we-all'
ta	ta	rekta	sekta	'we-two'
kano	nio~io	rekano	sekano	'you'
siran	ran~iran	kiran	siran	'they'

In Set II, the first of two forms separated by the alternating sign (~) occurs after a word ending with a vowel, and the second after a word ending with a consonant, except in the case of ran iran, where the first follows a word ending in the letter i and the second follows all other words.

The translations given indicate the differences in person and number.<sup>2</sup> Sets I, II, and III mark case-like grammatical relations which are also indicated elsewhere by particles. Set IV indicates emphasis as well as the same case marked by Set I.<sup>3</sup>

3.2 Particles

There are two kinds of particles in Maranao: those which add to the semantic content of the phrases in which they occur, such as peman 'again', imanto 'now', den 'emphasis', di 'no'; and those which mark grammatical relations: ago 'and', ka 'because', so topic marker, o source marker.

3.3 Nouns

Word bases or even inflected words are substantival when they occur after the particles so, o, sa, or ko, or their personalizing equivalents si, i, and ki; that is, they are translated as nouns. Examples are so sipaq 'the ball', so mamaq 'the man', so tabas 'a cut' or 'a cutting instrument', so tomabas 'one who cuts'.

3.4 Verbs

Words that are inflected and which occur as the grammatical center of a sentence are verbs. For example, tomabas after the particle so is translated as 'the one who cuts,' but as the grammatical center of the sentence in Tomabas ako sa dinis, it is translated as a verb: 'I'll cut cloth.'

4. Verb Inflection

The inflection of verbs is complicated by the number of categories marked and by certain conditioned changes in the appearance (spelling) of the inflectional items. Categories include the indicative and obligatory modes; the general, aptative, distributive, causative, and aptative-causative aspects; the neutral, past, immediate future, and present progressive tenses; and the subjective, objective, referential, and instrumental voices.

4.1 Voices

Voice affixes mark the grammatical relationship between the main verb of the sentence and the phrase introduced by the particle so (or a pronoun that will substitute for the so-phrase).

4.11 The subjective voice affix in the verb indicates that the so-phrase is the actor (parentheses within Maranao words enclose items under discussion): T(om)abas so mamaq sa dinis (cut so-man sa-cloth)<sup>4</sup> 'The man will cut the cloth.' Note that the so-phrase is the actor of the action expressed in the word tomabas, which is tabas plus the infix -om-. We call -om- the subjective voice marker.

<sup>4</sup> Rather than translate the case-marking particles with 'the', we put them before the English translation for the forms they introduce.

4.12 Another grammatical relationship is marked by the suffix -en. Thus, Tabas(en) o bebai so mamaq (cut o-woman so-man) 'The man is the one whom the woman will cut' or 'The man will be cut by the woman' or 'The woman will cut the man.' In this sentence the so-phrase is the direct recipient of the action--the direct object of the verb. The suffix -en thus marks the objective voice.

4.13 A third grammatical relation between the verb and a so-phrase is indicated by the suffix -an: Tabas(an) o bebai so mamaq (cut o-woman so-man) 'The man is the one for whom the woman will cut it' or 'The woman will cut it for the man.' Here the action is performed on behalf of the one designated by the particle so. The so-phrase stands in an indirect relation to the verb. It may indirectly receive the action, be the location of the action, or be the associate or beneficiary of the action. The suffix -an thus marks referential voice.

4.14 A final voice is indicated by the prefix i-: (I)tabas o bebai sa dinis so gelat (cut o-woman sa-cloth so-knife) 'It is with the knife that the woman will cut cloth' or 'The woman will cut cloth with a knife.' In this voice the so-phrase (or its substitute) is again indirectly involved in the action, here either as the cause of it or the instrument used to effect it. The prefix i- indicates the instrumental voice.

4.2 Mode

The obligatory mode is marked in combination with the referential and objective voices. That is, the suffixes -i and -a indicate both voice and obligation. The sentences Tabas(i) o bebai sa dinis so lamisaqan (cut o-woman sa-cloth so-table) 'It is on the table that the woman must cut cloth' and Tabas(a) o bebai so dinis (cut o-woman so-cloth) 'The cloth is the thing the woman must cut' illustrate the obligatory mode with referential and objective voices respectively.

The indicative mode is marked by the absence of an obligatory mode marker (see Section 5.23). When absent, the action is non-obligatory or neutral--i. e., indicative: Tomabas ako sa dinis 'I'll cut cloth.'

4.3 Aspect

Aspect as used for Maranao refers to the kind of action found in the verb. Any aspect may be indicated along with the various voices.

4.31 A prefix ka- indicates that someone has the ability or the aptitude to act or that the action is possible. This aspect is called the aptative. Thus (Ka)tabasen o bebai so dinis (can-cut o-woman so-cloth) 'The cloth is the thing the woman is able to cut.'

4.32 An action may occur "distributed" over time, among several people or things, or in several ways. For example, (Pan)abasan o bebai so dato sa dinis (cut-for o-woman so-chief sa-cloth) 'It was for the chief that the woman cut up the cloth' or 'The woman cut the cloth for the chief many times or into several pieces.' The prefix pang- (with variations in form) marks this aspect, and is called the distributive marker.

Additional emphasis for the distributive may be obtained by a combination of the infix -am- and the prefix pang-: (P-am-an)abasan o bebai so dato 'The woman will cut the cloth for the chief into tiny pieces' or she will 'cut and cut it' or she 'really cut it many times for the chief.'

4.33 The causative aspect is indicated by the prefix pa-, and signifies that someone permits or causes an action to take place.<sup>5</sup> Pa- occurs with the objective voice in combination with ka-, indicating that the one caused to act is the so-phrase of the sentence, and with ki- in combination with all voices, indicating that the person caused to act is not the so-phrase. Note these examples: (Paka)tabasen o mamaq so oataq sa karatas (cut o-man so-child sa-paper) 'The child is the one whom the man will cause/permit to cut paper' or 'The man will allow the child to cut paper'; (Paki)tabasen o mamaq ko oataq so karatas (cut o-man ko-child so-paper) 'The paper is what the man will have the child cut' or 'The man will have the paper cut by the child.'

4.34 A combination of the aptative aspect and the causative aspect indicates either a very polite or indirect way of requesting or describing an action, or implies that it is possible to get someone to do something. Example: (Ka)(paki)tabasan o bebai so dinis rekami (cut o-woman so-cloth ko-him)<sup>6</sup> 'It is possible for the woman to get him to have some cloth cut' or 'It is from the cloth that the woman can get him to have it cut.' We refer to this aspect as the aptative-causative.

<sup>5</sup> Recent studies by Robert Ward of the Summer Institute of Linguistics indicate that the causative may be a system cutting across the paradigms as we have presented them here.

4.35 It is possible to indicate a general action which is none of the aspects described so far. This is done by simply omitting any of the aspect markers: Tabasen o bebai so dinis 'The woman will cut the cloth' --non-aptative, non-distributive, non-causative, non-aptative-causative-- a general aspect.

4.4 Tense

The four tenses are the past, immediate future, present progressive, and neutral.

4.41 An action that has been completed is indicated by the infix -i-. This tense, the past, does not occur with the obligatory mode, but does occur with all voices and aspects. An example is T(i)abasen o mamaq (cut o-man) 'The man cut (past) it.'

4.42 The immediate future tense is marked by a replacive e↓, indicating that an action will happen in the immediate future and that that action is certain. This morpheme is called a replacive since it usually takes the place of some phoneme of the word in which it occurs. For example, the base word tabas has a replaced in T(e)abasen o mamaq 'The man will cut it (the man is going to cut it for sure).'

4.43 The present progressive tense is indicated by a combination of the immediate future and the prefix pe-. It indicates that an action is going on at the time one is speaking. Thus, (Pe)tēbasen o mamaq 'The man is cutting it.'

4.44 When the other tense markers are omitted, the verb is neutral as to time--it is not past, will not happen immediately, and is not going on right now. It is therefore translated as a general future or general present: Tabasen o mamaq so karatas 'The man will cut the paper' or 'The man cuts the paper.' This neutrality as to tense contrasts with the immediate future in that the action is not sure to happen right away.

5. Verb Paradigms

The complications found in the forms of the affixes used to indicate the inflectional categories just described cannot be completely set forth here.<sup>7</sup> A general introduction to the forms, however, can be given by using paradigms. The following abbreviations are needed.

Voice

R - referential	Ob - objective
Ins - instrumental	S - subjective

Aspect

A - aptative	D - distributive
C - causative with ki-	D <sub>2</sub> - emphatic distributive
C <sub>2</sub> - causative with ka-	A-C - aptative-causative

Tense

P - past	PP - present progressive
IF - immediate future

The indicative mode, general aspect, and neutral tense are all left unmarked.

5.1 Voice Paradigms

All verbs must be marked for voice. Recent studies in Maguindanao, a closely related language, indicate that there may be a neutral voice marked by the prefix ka- (homophonous with the aptative ka-, but a different morpheme).<sup>8</sup> This prefix occurs frequently in dependent clauses in Maranao as it does in Maguindanao, and is translated with an English participle. In these instances, it may be possible that Maranao has a neutral voice as does Maguindanao. However, at this point in our research, we prefer an analysis indicating that this particular prefix is derivational. It should be noted that almost any full stem in the dictionary may occur with this ka- prefix, which yields an "ing" form in English translation.

5.11 In the following illustrative paradigms, we use the base word tabas 'cut' whenever possible. The morpheme in question (in this case referential -an) appears in parentheses in the paradigms.

		A	D	D <sub>2</sub>
		tabas(an)	katabas(an)	panabas(an)	pamanabas(an)

5.12 The objective voice suffix -en zeros out (indicated by #) whenever the past tense or the aptative aspect occurs.

		A	D	D <sub>2</sub>
		tabas(en)	matabas(#)	panabas(en)	pamanabas(en)

PP		pepekatabas(en)	pepekitabas(en)

5.13 The instrumental voice marker precedes all other markers except the aptative aspect marker (ka- ma-), which it follows. Prefix i- has not been recorded with the immediate future or the present progressive tense of the emphatic distributive, with the present progressive of the aptative-causative, nor with any forms with the causative aspect.

	A	D
P	(i)tabas	m(i)tabas

5.14 The subjective voice marker has a number of different forms (the student is reminded of the many ways to form the plural in English), and a rather complicated distribution. Except for -om-, the subjective forms occur first in any sequence before the word base. The following forms occur: (1) ma-, (2) m-, (3) -om-, and (4) # (no form).

(1) Except with full stems having initial letters b, d, or g, ma- occurs with aspect markers either if past tense or if no tense marker occurs.

	(ma)#kitabas	(ma)#pakitabas
P	(m-i-a)#kitabas	(m-i-a)#pakitabas

(2) The form m- occurs if the aspect markers are absent under the following conditions: (a) with stems having initial vowels, except with the present progressive pe-: (m)olog (S), (m)iolog (PS), (m)agolog (IFS) from olog 'fall'; (b) with stems having initial p or b, except with the immediate future tense and the present progressive (the m- in such cases replaces the initial consonant of the stem): (m)otol (S), (m)iotol (PS) from potol 'break'; (m)adas (S), (m)iadas (PS) from badas 'whip'; and (c) with stems having initial r, l, m, or n before a vowel with the immediate future marker: (m)eropet (IFS) from ropet 'break'.

The form m- also occurs when both the distributive marker and the past tense marker are present in stems with initial g, or sequences of mb, nd, or ngg: (m)inggakot (PDS), (m)inggagakot (PD<sub>2</sub>S) from gakot 'tie'; (m)inditar (PDS), (m)indiditar (PD<sub>2</sub>S) from nditar 'clothe'.

(3) The form -om- occurs after the initial stem consonant when aspect markers are absent with stems having initial t, s, k, d, g, r, l, or n, if past tense or unmarked neutral tense also occur. Examples follow.

	soa 'do'	kalot 'dig'	gakot 'tie'	naio 'wait'
S	s(om)oa	k(om)alot	g(om)akot	n(om)aiao
PS	s(om)ioa	k(om)ialot	g(om)iakot	n(om)iaiao

(4) The zero form (#) occurs elsewhere; that is, with the present progressive, with the immediate future, except as in (2) above, and with forms marking neutral tense and the distributive aspect if these forms have initial g, mb, nd, or ngg. Examples:

		A	D
IF	(#)tebas	(#)pekatabas	(#)penabas

5.23 The subjective voice with the obligatory mode is indicated not only by the absence of the suffixes -a and -i, but also by the absence of any of the voice markers. Verb forms that indicate contrast occur only with the neutral tense, since the subjective voice has a zero form with the immediate future or present progressive tenses ((#)tebas, (#)petebas) and since with the past tense they would be confused with the obligatory voice forms (tiabas(#), etc.). Thus a sentence like Tebas sekanian is ambiguous. It may be the immediate future subjective 'He will cut it right away' or the immediate future obligatory subjective 'He has to cut it right away.' The subjective/obligatory verb forms have not been observed with the aptative or aptative-causative aspects. The following are examples of verb forms which distinctively indicate subjective voice and obligatory mode.

	tabas	panabas	pakitabas

5.24 It should be noted that the indicative mode, marked by the absence of obligatory/voice markers, always retains a voice marker. The following paradigms illustrate verb forms marking subjective voice and indicative mode.

5.3 Aspect Paradigms

5.31 Causative action is marked by the combination of pa- with ki- or ka-. These combinations precede the full stem. The causative prefix has the following alternants: p- with the immediate future (whether the present progressive is manifested or not), a zero shape (#) with the subjective voice alternant ma-, and pa- in all other places. The following paradigms illustrate.

	Referential C	Objective C
P	(paki)tabasan (p-i-aki)tabasan	(paki)tabasen (p-i-aki)tabas#
IF	(p-e-ki)tabasan	(p-e-ki)tabasen
PP	pe(p-e-ki)tabasan	pe(p-e-ki)tabasen
O	(paki)tabasi	(paki)tabasa
OIF	(p-e-ki)tabasi	(p-e-ki)tabasa

	Objective C <sub>2</sub>	Subjective C
P	(paka)tabasen (p-i-aka)tabas#	ma(#ki)tabas mia(#ki)tabas
IF	(p-e-ka)tabasen	#(p-e-ki)tabas
PP	pe(p-e-ka)tabasen	(paki)tabas
O	(paka)tabasa	(paki)tabas
OIF	(p-e-ka)tabasa	(p-e-ki)tabas

5.32 The aptative marker precedes the immediate future tense marker if the forms are e↓ or #, and/or the instrumental voice marker.

Otherwise, ka- precedes the full stem. This marker takes the shape k- if the IF tense is e✓ or #; ma- with the objective voice, where the first alternant k- does not occur; m- with the instrumental voice, where k- does not occur; and ka- elsewhere.

	Referential A	Objective A

IF	(k)#itabas	#pe(ka)tabas
PP	pe(k)#itabas	#pepe(ka)tabas

5.33 The alternants for the aptative-causative aspect are similar to those listed in 5.31 and 5.32, with some differences noted in the following paradigms. Omissions indicate that the forms have not been recorded.

	Referential A-C	Objective A-C

5.34 The distributive marker has a number of alternants conditioned sometimes by the following sounds, and sometimes by the presence of certain other affixes. We may describe some of the shapes by writing paN-, the N representing a nasal at the point of articulation of the initial consonant of the stem, which is in turn replaced. In general, this marker has the following forms: (1) pang- ~ pan- ~ pam-; (2) p...ng- ~ p...n- ~ p...m-; (3) #- ~ p- ~ e- ~ pe-. The first two groups generally occur with word bases having initial vowels, or the consonants p, t, s, k, or d, the second occurring with the replacive e (IF) and prefix pe- (PP). The third group occurs generally with stems having initial r, l, m, n, g, mb, nd, or ngg. Paradigms to illustrate follow.

(1) With initial vowels:

	Referential D	Objective D
P	(pang)ologan	(pang)ologen
IF	(p-i-ang)ologan	(p-i-ang)olog#
PP	(p-e-ng)ologan	(p-e-ng)ologen

(2) With initial p, t, s, k, b, or d, but not e as the first vowel:
 (a) p...N- occurs with the immediate future: (p-e-m)otol from potol 'break', (p-e-n)abas from tabas 'cut'; (b) N- occurs with the subjective voice alternant ma-: ma(m)otol from potol, ma(n)abas from tabas; and (c) paN- occurs elsewhere: (pam)otolan from potol, (pan)abasan from tabas. The following paradigm is typical.

	Referential D	Objective D
P	(pan)abasan	(pan)abasen
IF	(p-i-an)abasan	(p-i-an)abas#
PP	(p-e-n)abasan	(p-e-n)abasen

OIF		(pan)abas
OPP		(p-e-n)abas
		pe(p-e-n)abas

(3) With initial r, l, m, n and stems with e as the first vowel, such as teroq 'speak', kelag 'laugh': (a) a zero shape occurs if both the past tense and the ma-form of the subjective occur; (b) with e- in forms without these morphemes if the subjective also occurs; (c) with p- if both past tense and either the referential or objective voice also occur, or wherever the immediate future tense marker occurs; and (d) pe- elsewhere. The following paradigms illustrate these alternants and their distribution.

5.35 The emphatic distributive marker -am- occurs either as an infix included in the distributive marker paN-, or as a reduplicative preceding the stem. The reduplication occurs with stems having initial d, g, r, l, n, mb, nd, or ngg. The reduplication consists of the first vowel and preceding consonant of the stem. The forms -m- or -am- occur with other words, the first with the immediate future marker e and the second elsewhere. The following are illustrative.

5.4 Tense Markers

5.41 The past tense usually occurs preceding the first vowel of the stem: t(i)abasan 'cut', (in)olog 'fell'. If -om- or i- occur, then the past tense marker follows the voice marker: tom(i)abas, i(ni)tabas. The past tense form is -in- or -ni- when contiguous to i: (in)ilai 'saw', pom(in)ikir 'thought' from pikir 'think'. If the past tense occurs next to e, that vowel is replaced: dekeq + -om- + -i- gives domikeq 'rested'.

5.42 Alternants for the immediate future tense follow:

(1) e↓ replaces the vowel of the mode markers, with the following qualifications. When aptative ka- precedes causative pa- in the referential voice, the e↓ replaces the vowel of the aptative marker, but elsewhere it replaces the vowel of the causative marker: k(e)pakitabasan, but map(e)katabas#. The aptative ka- with the subjective voice is not altered: (pe)katabas (see alternant pe- of the IF below). Where aspect is not marked, e↓ either replaces the first vowel of the word base if that is the phoneme a, or is infixes after the first consonant if the vowel is not a, provided that the initial consonant is one of the following: p, t, k, b, d, g, s, or m: #t(e)bas (IFS-cut from tabas); p(e)otol (IFS-break from potol). In stems having r, l, or n initials, e↓ replaces the vowel of the subjective marker when it occurs: m(e)ropet (IFS-break from ropet).

(2) pe- occurs before aptative ka- if the subjective marker is also present: #(pe)katabas.

(3) pag- occurs with stems having initial vowel if the form does not include aspect markers. This alternant of the IF tense also has alternants: (a) ag- if subjective ma- is present: m(ag)olog, m(ag)ilai; (b) g- if present progressive pe- occurs: pe(g)olog, pe(g)ologan; (c) pag- elsewhere: (pag)ologan.

(4) A zero shape of the IF tense occurs when it precedes the instrumental voice--i. e., whenever the aptative also occurs: k(#)itabas from ka- + e↓ + i- + tabas (IFAIns-cut).

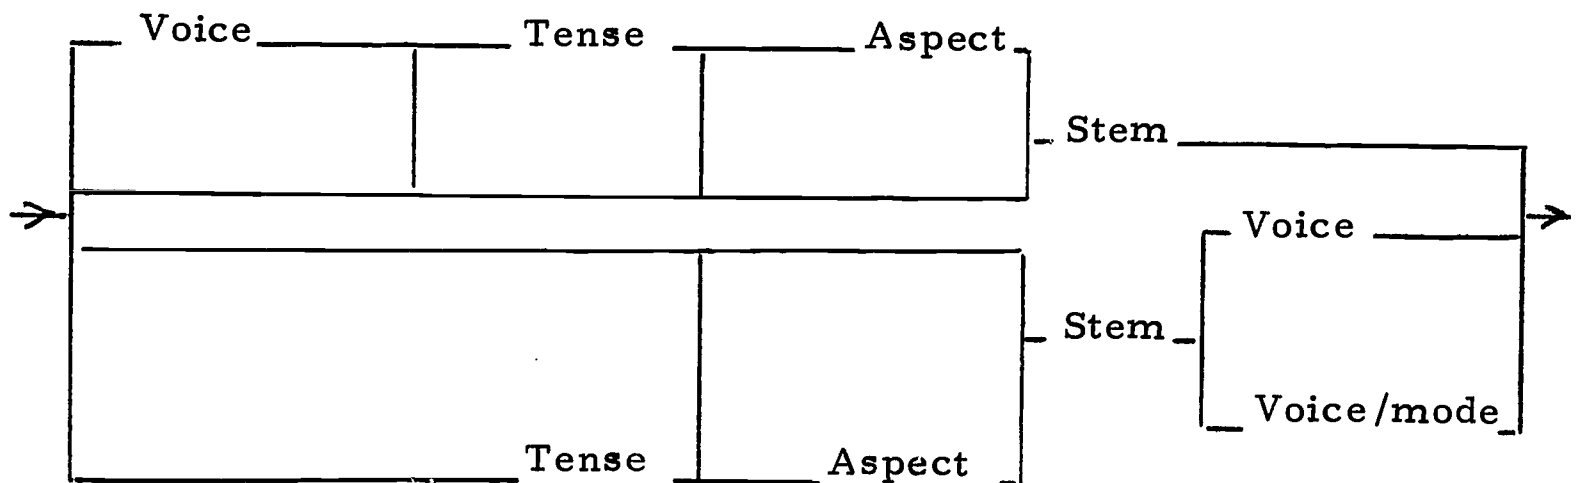

5.43 The present progressive prefix pe- precedes e↓ of the IF tense and also the aspect markers. The only markers that may precede pe- are the instrumental i- and the subjective voice in its zero shape. The following verbs illustrate: (pe)tebasen (PPOb-cut), (pe)ketabas# (PPAOb-cut), (pe)penabas (PPDIns-cut).

5.44 A verb form is neutral as to tense if no tense markers occur. Examples from the referential paradigm are as follows: katabasan (AR), panabasan (DR), pakitabasan (CR), kapakitabasan (A-CR), tabasan (R).

6. Summary of Verb Inflection

The following diagrams represent the various categories of inflection and their relative order from left to right.

6.1 Categories

6.2 Order of Inflectional Affixes

In reading the diagrams from left to right, the student may follow any line, moving up or down at intersecting lines, or continuing in a straight line, but following the indications given with the + and † signs. The first of these signs indicates that the following affix is obligatory if chosen, and the latter indicates that it is optional. There are certain limitations: (1) past tense -i- does not occur with obligatory markers, (2) aptative ka- with immediate future and present progressive markers, if they occur, precedes the instrumental voice marker i-, and (3) causative with ka- occurs only with the objective voice. Not every form that can be derived from the diagrams has actually appeared in the data from which this analysis has been done. Otherwise, the fact that some forms do not appear is probably fortuitous.

7. Summary of Major Constructions

The parts of speech mentioned in Section 3 of this introduction stand in various grammatical relationships to each other in the Maranao sentence. The most predominant sentence type is the verbal predication, a sentence containing as its grammatical center a verb usually followed by one or more attributives manifested by noun phrases or their substitutes. The relationships between noun phrases and between noun phrases and verbs are indicated by particles. A short discussion of such phrases is important to an understanding of Maranao syntax.

7.1 Phrases

7.11 With subordinating particles. Particles such as kagia 'when', o 'if', and andai 'as soon as' introduce phrases tied to the following phrase or clause by the particle na (a coordinating particle). The phrases introduced by such particles are subordinate to the major construction: O giaqi kandgang na ba ka den gegenek 'If this is business, then you indeed had better stop right away.'

7.12 With case-marking particles. The particles so, o, sa, and ko, and their counterparts si, i, and ki, which mark personal or proper names and titles, introduce substantive phrases. The different particles mark different grammatical relations between substantives, and between verbs and substantives.

(1) It has been noted that voice markers in the verbs indicate the relationship obtaining between the verb and the so-phrase. The particle so, in turn, indicates that the phrase introduced by this particle is the topic of the sentence--the phrase that stands in the primary relationship to the verb, whether actor, goal, beneficiary, or instrument of the action. Note the following examples: Tomabas so bebai sa dinis 'The woman is the one who will cut cloth'; Tabasen o bebai so dinis 'The cloth is the thing the woman will cut'; Tabasan o bebai so dato sa dinis 'The chief is the one for whom the woman will cut cloth'; and Itabas o bebai so gelat 'The knife is what the woman will use to cut it.' The particle si marks the same relation as so, but indicates that the following word is a name or title: Tabasen si Batua 'Batua will cut it.'

These particles may also introduce a phrase in a position of special emphasis before the verb. For example: So bebai na tabasen ian so dinis 'The cloth is what will be cut by the very woman.' The pronoun ian (from Set II) following the verb has the same referent as so bebai and is the actor, but not the topic. Since emphasis is desired, the phrase is placed before the verb and marked by so, and tied to the rest of the sentence by na.

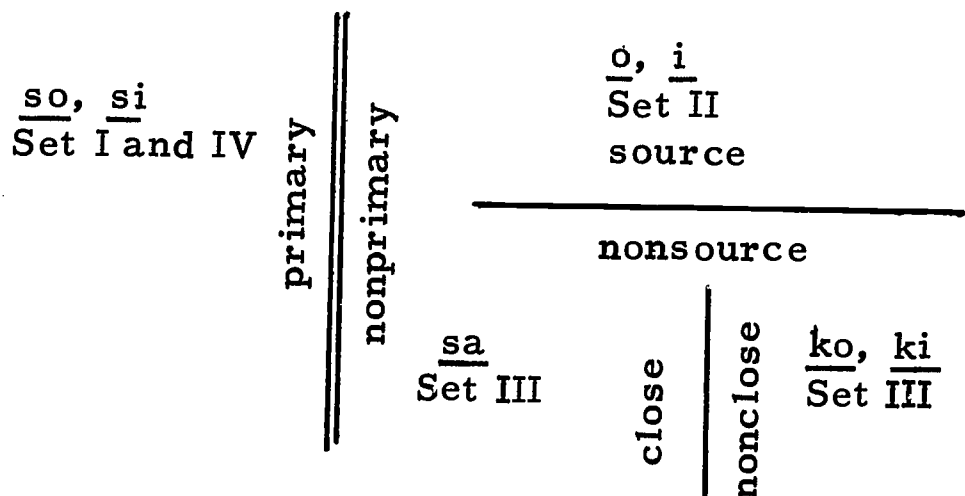

Again, so may mark amplification: Tabasen o bebai ago so mamaq sa karatas 'The paper will be the thing cut by the woman and the man.' A so-phrase (or its substitute) always follows ago 'and'. Thus the grammatical relation of special emphasis, amplification, or topic is marked by so, a relation we may refer to as primary.

(2) Particles o and i indicate that the phrases introduced by them are in a source relation to either a verb or another substantive phrase. The source of an action is illustrated by the sentence Tabasen o bebai 'The woman will cut it.' When an o-phrase is related to another phrase, it signifies possession (source): so sapiq o dato 'the cow of the chief' or 'the chief's cow.'

(3) The particle sa does not have a personalizer counterpart. It marks a relation either between substantives (so solotan sa mandaia 'the Sultan of Mandaya' or 'the Mandayan Sultan') or between substantives and verb (Tomabas so bebai sa dinis 'The woman cut cloth'). In the latter case sa marks the object. When the object of a verb is also the topic (the so-phrase), then sa may indicate the location or instrument of the action if it is indefinite: Linimod o manaq so karabao sa totogan ko koit (gathered o-man so-water-buffalo sa-palace ko-stick) 'The man gathered the water-buffalo into a palace with the stick.' Thus sa marks a close relationship of intimate association, or goal of the action.

(4) The particle ko indicates a grammatical relation between substantives, or between substantive and verb, as do the other particles under discussion. In this case the relationship is not as close as that marked by sa. Ko marks indirect object with verbs (see sentence above with ko koit), and location or the like with substantives: so ator ko balintad 'the stone in the valley.'

The relations suggested for the particles and also marked by the pronoun sets may be diagrammed as follows:<sup>11</sup>

7.2 Sentences

There are a number of sentence types in Maranao. Examples are the single word or phrase without a verb, such as Dig 'No', So oataq 'It is a child,' and the equational sentence in which two items are equated, again without a verb: So oataq na mamaq 'The child is a boy.' On the other hand, verbal predications must contain a verb with or without attributives (noun phrases or the like). There are four predication types, determined by the voice of the verb and the sequences of attributives governed by the verb. Word order is not fixed. Usually the verb stands first and is followed by the actor, and then the other attributives. The four types of verbal predication include subjective, objective, referential, and instrumental.

7.21 The subjective sentences require a verb with subjective voice marker to indicate that the action originates with the so-phrase: Tomabas so mamaq 'The man will cut.' Up to three substantive phrases may also occur with the verb: Tomabas (so bebai) (sa dinis) (ko gelat) 'The woman will cut cloth with the knife.' The verb may also occur alone: Tomabas 'Someone will cut.'

7.22 Objective predications require a verb with the objective voice marker, indicating that the action is directed toward the so-phrase: Tabasen so dinis 'He cut the cloth.' The following substantive phrases are possible (remembering that the proper pronoun could substitute for any of them): o-phrase as actor (subject), so-phrase as object and topic, ko-phrase as definite or sa-phrase as indefinite instrument (or indirect referent).

7.23 The referential voice in the main verb, indicating that the so-phrase is associated in the action as beneficiary, location, or indirect recipient of the action, is required in referential predications. The possible phrases, though again the verb may stand alone, are o-phrase as actor, sa-phrase as object, so-phrase as referent and topic, and, if the causative occurs, a ko-phrase as referent. An example is Sombaliqin iran ko lamaq so karabao ko kapekaqoma ian (Ob-butcher o-they ko-lawn so-water-buffalo ko-arrival o-her) 'They will butcher the carabao on the lawn for her arrival.' Note that pronouns from Sets I and IV substitute for so-phrases, from Set II for o-phrases, and from Set III for sa-phrases and ko-phrases.

7.24 The instrumental predications require the instrumental voice with the central verb, indicating that the topic is indirectly involved in the action, either as the cause of it or the instrument used to effect it: Pekilanaqan o raga sa pamada so bok ian ko inaq ian (IFCR-put-on-oil o-girl sa-pomade so-hair o-her ko-mother o-her) 'The girl will have her mother oil her hair with pomade' or 'It is on her hair that the girl will have her mother put the pomade.'

The predicative types and possible sequences of attributes may be summarized as follows.

Type	Actor	Object	Referent	Instrument
Subjective	so -phrase/ topic	sa -phrase	ko -phrase
Objective	o -phrase	so -phrase/ topic	ko -phrase	ko -phrase
Referential	o -phrase	sa -phrase	so -phrase/ topic	ko -phrase
Instrumental	o -phrase	sa or ko - phrase	ko or sa - phrase	so -phrase/ topic

8. Conclusion

No summary is complete, and in this case it should be noted that analysis of Maranao is still in progress. Only an indication of possible verb paradigms and a bit of the syntax have been included here. A more complete description of the grammar is necessary for pedagogical purposes as well as for descriptive statements.

We hope this beginning effort will lead to studies that deal more fully with the phonology, grammar, and lexicon of the Maranao language.

A MARANAO DICTIONARY

Maranao, one of the eight major languages in the Philippines, is spoken by some 400,000 members of a Moslem society on the island of Mindanao. This dictionary, for which the primary source was the spoken language, is the result of the authors' field work among the Maranao people.

Part I of the dictionary contains 18,000 Maranao entries, most of them glossed by two to four English words or phrases. Included are more than 700 popular Maranao plant names identified with their scientific equivalents. Over 3,000 Maranao words have been illustrated by sentences, freely translated into English, to provide examples of Maranao syntax. Part II of the compilation contains alphabetized English glosses which provide a valuable cross-reference to Part I. The work also includes a sketch of Maranao grammar to aid the user in identifying base forms, the forms used for the entries.

The dictionary was produced on the IBM 7040 and 1401 and has been reproduced from the computer print-out.

HOWARD P. MCKAUGHAN is presently Professor of Linguistics and Associate Dean of the Graduate Division, as well as Director of the Pacific and Asian Linguistics Institute, at the University of Hawaii. He holds an A.B. degree from the University of California at Los Angeles, an M.Th. from Dallas Theological Seminary, and an M.A. and Ph.D. from Cornell University. Dr. McKaughan is coauthor of a Chatino dictionary and author of many scholarly articles which have appeared in such journals as WORD, INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF AMERICAN LINGUISTICS, and LANGUAGE. From 1952 to 1961 he was in the Philippines intermittently, during which time he did the field work for the present dictionary.

BATUA A. MACARAYA, a faculty member of Dansalan Junior College on Mindanao, was Research Associate at the University of Hawaii while working on this compilation. He has done extensive dictionary work and is the author of a Maranao-English dictionary published in the Philippines.
